Survey finds one in every three students thinks corruption is okay

JULY 19, 2017

KUALA LUMPUR, July 19 — A survey on Students' Perception of Corruption carried out by the Integrity Institute of Malaysia (IIM) reveals that one in every three local university students thinks that receiving a present in the form of money, goods or service in return for services rendered is not corruption.

In fact, 20.6 per cent of the survey respondents consider direct involvement in the process of appointing family members to fill vacancies in their department is a permissible act.

IIM president and chief executive officer Datuk Dr Anis Yusal Yusoff said 28.1 per cent of the respondents thought that it was not an offence for them to take
